

Door, Full Panel, Return Buttress Panel

Our system, engineered with the same methodology as our Heavy Glass product line for a repeatable and consistent process, reduces number of seams (see page 2 for reference).

This methodology is based on the wall jamb that goes up the kneewall and gives a continuous appearance as it goes across the kneewall and along the back of the return.

The u-channel base runs to the wall. The kneewall u-channel then sits on top of the base and runs up and across the kneewall to give a clean, continuous appearance and a minimal number of seams.
